Memorandum

To: Honorable Members of the McLean County Board Finance Committee

From: Robert J. Keller, Director

Re: Budget and Full-Time Position Equivalent Amendments

As the attached narrative describes in detail, a shift in staffing philosophy is driving an alternative approach within the Health Promotion Section. With the recent addition of the Illinois Department of Public Health Office of Women's Health Ticket for a Cure grant this year, additional demands have been placed upon the section. The original intent was to use existing health promotion specialists within that section to engage in programmatic interventions. In addition, time spent on the project by the department's public health communication specialist for development of a media campaign has diminished after the completion of promotional materials. With the planned departure in August of the intern assigned to the Susan G. Komen grant, it was determined that a part-time health promotion specialist would alleviate some of the demand placed on the section for the two breast health grants, the smoking cessation program in WIC, and coverage during a medical leave for one of the section's professional full-time staff.

The result in the shift of funding will be to eliminate the intern position and establish the .55 FTE part-time health promotion specialist position. The financial support for this position emanates entirely from contract funds within segregated accounting funds. As mentioned in the narrative, continuation of the position at the level projected is dependent upon funding levels from the various contracts. At this time, the funding level for the Susan G. Komen and Ticket for a Cure grants is known. The amount set aside for smoking cessation efforts within the WIC and family case management programs is expected to be stable for FY08. Continuation of this part-time position will be evaluated annually based upon the level of financial support.

Budget Amendment Narrative Grant Fund 0105 Provision for Converting a Current Intern Position to a Permanent Part-Time Health Promotion Specialist

The Health Promotion section of the McLean County Health Department has conducted a breast health education program, Friends for Life, since 1998 teaching women about the need for monthly breast self exams (BSE), yearly clinical examinations, and yearly mammograms after the age of forty. The majority of the funding for this project was received from the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

Additional funds for social marketing were needed to build on the successes of the project. The Department was notified by the Illinois Department of Public Health's Office of Women's Health of an award of a $32,000 grant for a 16 month period extending from March 1, 2007 until June 30, 2008. The majority of the funds are being used to expand media messages through radio, television, print and outdoor advertising.

In the last nine years, the project was managed by Health Program Manager and implemented by breast health interns completing health education degree from local university. However, students worked approximately one year and then cycled out after graduation from the university. With the additional funding from the Ticket for the Cure grant and $9,750 from the Komen Grant as well as savings from the Bioterrorism and smoking cessation grants it made it cost effective to establish a permanent .40 FTE part time position for a health promotion specialist and give more continuity to the Friends for Life program. The sustaining of this staffing and configuration is predicated on the continuation of the IDPH Office of Women's Health Grant and adequate public health emergency preparedness funds. The calculations are listed below.

A Resolution Amending the Fiscal Year 2007 McLean County Full-Time Equivalent Position Resolution Associated with an Ordinance to Amend the Fiscal Year 2007 McLean County Combined Appropriation and Budget Ordinance for Fund 0105.

WHEREAS, the County Board adopted a funded Full-Time Equivalent Position Resolution on November 21, 2006 which became effective on January 1, 2007; and,

WHEREAS, it becomes necessary to amend the Funded Full-Time Equivalent Position Resolution to authorize position changes associated with the staff compliment allocated to work on preventive health related grant programs in operating Fund 0105.

Therefore, Be it resolved by the McLean County Board, now in regular session, that the said funded Full-Time Equivalent Positions Resolution be and hereby is amended as follows:

			Position A	nnual
Action	Fund	Program	Classification	$\underline{\mathtt{FTE}}$	Months	Now	New

Increase			0515-8115	25	5.0	.80_	90
Increase			0515-8115	.20	5.0	.90	.98*

This Amendment shall become effective and be in full force immediately upon adoption.

* The additional .20 FTE adjustment results from a budget amendment approved by the Board on March 20, 2007. The total FTE's are cumulative and do not reflect a compounded adjustment. The total FTE adjustment from all transactions of this request are a .45 FTE annualized increase of a Health Promotion Specialist and an annualized reduction of a .40 FTE Intern.

Budget Amendment Narrative Grant Fund 0105 Provision for Converting a Current Intern Position to a Permanent Part-Time Health Promotion Specialist

The Health Promotion section of the McLean County Health Department has conducted a breast health education program, Friends for Life, since 1998 teaching women about the need for monthly breast self exams (BSE), yearly clinical examinations, and yearly mammograms after the age of forty. The majority of the funding for this project was received from the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

Additional funds for social marketing were needed to build on the successes of the project. The Department was notified by the Illinois Department of Public Health's Office of Women's Health of an award of a $32,000 grant for a 16 month period extending from March 1, 2007 until June 30, 2008. The majority of the funds are being used to expand media messages through radio, television, print and outdoor advertising.

In the last nine years, the project was managed by Health Program Manager and implemented by breast health interns completing health education degree from local university. However, students worked approximately one year and then cycled out after graduation from the university. With the additional funding from the Ticket for the Cure grant and $9,750 from the Komen Grant as well as savings from the Bioterrorism and smoking cessation grants it made it cost effective to establish a permanent .40 FTE part time position for a health promotion specialist and give more continuity to the Friends for Life program. The sustaining of this staffing and configuration is predicated on the continuation of the IDPH Office of Women's Health Grant and adequate public health emergency preparedness funds. The calculations are listed below.

Intern worked approximately 780 hours per year

Ticket for the Cure: $32,000 $7,800 for personnel = .20 FTE

Komen Grant: $20,000 $9,750 for personnel = .25 FTE

Savings from Bioterrorism $3,510 for personnel = .09 FTE

Cost Shift

Small amount of savings $ 872 for personnel = .01 FTE

From Smoking cessation money

Total = .55 FTE

WHEREAS, it becomes necessary to amend the Funded Full-Time Equivalent Position Resolution to authorize position changes associated with the staff compliment allocated to work on preventive health related grant programs in operating Fund 0105.

Therefore, Be it resolved by the McLean County Board, now in regular session, that the said funded Full-Time Equivalent Positions Resolution be and hereby is amended as follows:

			Position A	nnual
Action	Fund	Program	Classification	FTE	Months	Now	New
Decrease	0105-0061	0067	0516-0399	.40	5.0	.40	.23

	0105-0061		0515-8115	.20	5.0	.90	.98*

This Amendment shall become effective and be in full force immediately upon adoption.

* The additional .20 FTE adjustment results from a budget amendment approved by the Board on March 20, 2007. The total FTE's are cumulative and do not reflect a compounded adjustment. The total FTE adjustment from all transactions of this request are a .45 FTE annualized increase of a Health Promotion Specialist and an annualized reduction of a .40 FTE Intern.

Dear County Officials:

The Prescription Drug Card Program contract is attached. Please review the checklist on p. 1 of the contract document. Incorrect checklists or contracts will result in a delayed implementation of the program.

Please follow these directions carefully:

- 1. Counties, Parishes, Boroughs sign exhibit C of the contract which attaches the county to the overall NACo contract. If your county requires a copy of the signature page bearing the NACo and Caremark signatures, this can be provided to you via .PDF on request.
- 2. Once signed, mail the Exhibit C page (this is on page 15 of the contract with BLANK signature lines) and the checklist to:

Andrew Goldschmidt
Director of Membership Marketing
National Association of Counties
25 Massachusetts Ave, NW 5th Floor
Washington, DC 20001

- 3. Once the contract is received, our executive director will sign it and pass it on to Caremark for final signature. You may start your internal planning process to promote the program.
- 4. While the final signatures are being completed, please forward your logo or seal via e-mail to elandsman@naco.org or agoldschmidt@naco.org (if you prefer, you may have the card simply read XYZ County or XYZ CountyRx) and specify the quantity of card brochures you would like to order by filling out the checklist. Caremark will draw up proofs for your approval. Once they are approved by your county, the materials will be completed and in your hands by the time the contract returns with the final signature.

You may estimate 8-10 weeks from the date the contract is returned until you can distribute the cards to your county residents. A key note, any non pre-approved press releases or other information to be distributed on the program must come to NACo and Caremark's attention for approval prior to use.

Please contact me or Andrew if you have any questions or need further information. NACo looks forward to working with you on this exciting program!

Sincerely,

Emily Landsman Membership Coordinator, II

P.S. - If you need to access the collateral materials on the program, you can access those by logging in to the NACo's members only portion of the web site at www.naco.org. Please contact me at (202) 942-4242 or elandsman@naco.org if you need assistance.

The above message and enclosed attachments are confidential and should not be shared outside of the county officials considering the program without permission from NACo.

This checklist is not part of the NACo contract, however, please return it with your signed contract.

Incomplete or incorrect checklists will delay implementation of the program

MCLEAN COUNTY, ILLINOIS

Report on Recorder's Office Staffing Needs and Related Process Issues

July 2007

MAXIMUS

Northbrook, Illinois (847) 513-5508

Bruce Cowans, Senior Vice President brucecowans@maximus.com

- 1. The McLean County Recorder's Office recently increased staff to 7.0 full-time equivalent employees (FTE). We support this staffing level. The Recorder would like to increase to 5.0 FTE. We seel that this should wait until the workload reaches approximately 42.000 annual recordings (workload is currently 36.000 recordings). Thereafier, we suggest that one staff member be added for every 5.200 documents of increase mannual workload.
- 2. The office is making efforts to ensure quality of document recording that we support. We suggest that the analysis of problems be focused on two things: proving if there are incorrect facts in the database and testing if searches for records cannot find documents sought. These are the two key metrics of quality, in our opinion:
- The office has experienced a rather sharp increase in the time required to mail documents back to customers to 30 days, from a level of 2.6 days a little more than a year ago. The Recorder attributes this to key verification (i.e., double entry of data) that he instituted under his administration. We agree that key verification contributes to the time required to mail documents, but do not see it as factor sufficient to explain the sharp increase. The mail-out time is a concern, but we would suggest that current staffing is sufficient to solve the problem and that the answer should lie in collaborative internal discussions of how to improve productivity.
- 4. The public has access to staff areas. Most Illinois recorder offices separate public and staff areas to ensure the integrity of the database and prevent unauthorized access to documents such as military discharges. We feel that this change would be appropriate for McLean County too and we discuss how to do that.

I. USING ANALYSIS TO SUPPORT PROCESS AND BUDGET DECISIONS

The McLean County Recorder wants to improve his office, both to keep up with workload and promote the quality of the recording effort. The office, which operates with seven full-time equivalent employees, including the Recorder, faces several challenges:

- Workload fluctuates unpredictably, which makes it difficult to staff the office at an appropriate level. Economic cycles cause much of this, but McLean County's location at the intersection of several major highways has buffered the national trend.
- Under the previous Recorder, each employee processed a document from start to finish by him or herself. Now, work flow is sequential, with duties mirroring the structure of the software that the office uses. It seems the office is still adapting to the change.

MAXIMUS

- The Recorder believes that his office is understaffed. With workload down from prior years, the County Board wondered why the office needed more employees to less work than the office had processed in prior years. That workload is lower does not mean that the office was staffed properly several years ago, but the County Board's question deserves an answer.
- Illinois law gives elected official department heads great latitude in defining their role in the organization. Recorder's Office staff would appreciate help from the Recorder in processing workload. The Recorder is under no obligation to do so and has been active in other pursuits that he believes are of more importance to the office.
- The office has been tracing an unexplained mismatch between actual and expected cash receipts from the prior administration. With integrity being an unresolved issue, quality control is more important than ever.

The Recorder and County Board felt that an independent review would help. We proposed a review that would do several things.

- Test productivity. While the office may need more staff, we felt that before spending that money, the County should test if it were possible to get more work out of the staff already on payroll.
- Test the number of staff needed using different methods. Using more than one method allowed us to test the strength of our findings. If all methods reached the same conclusion, the implication is strong. If the results were mixed, the case might not be as compelling.
- Comment on quality control. The Recorder has a local professor assisting with quality control and did not wish for us to perform statistical testing of transactions. However, our work gave us insights into quality control that we discuss in our report.

Our report discusses the methods we used, the findings we reached and the operational and policy implications of these findings, as well as our thoughts on timing.

III. METHOD

A. Process Mapping – Testing Productivity and Projecting Staffing Needs

Recording happens in stages. Documents are scanned to create an image, which is numbered for future reference and retrieval. The office verifies that the image is accurate, processes fees, and prepares the documents for mailing back to the parties who provided them for recording.

We met with staff and spent a few days observing the processes they used, collecting first-hand information on the time requirements of each step of the recording process. We advised them neither to speed up or slow down their work and believe that they performed as they would if we were not there, but there is always a chance that a person who knows he or she is being observed will vary from their typical work style.

We had two reasons to assess work process. First, if there were localized bottlenecks, there might be a chance to increase productivity without increasing staff. Second, by collecting first-hand information on the times required for each step of the process and observing the recording of different types of documents, we were building a detailed baseline from which we could predict staffing needs.

B. Benchmarking vs. Other Counties

The job of recording is similar for all Illinois counties, especially those of similar size and location (where the process is likely to be based on comparable levels of automation). This lets us compare counties of similar characteristics in terms of work done per employee. The consultant designed the survey form and the Recorder made the contacts with the peer counties, since counties were more likely to provide survey responses to a peer than a vendor.

Measuring total work done per office or total employees per office can lead to incorrect conclusions. The goal is to measure output per worker (not total recordings or total employees). We compared McLean County to the average of similar Illinois counties (and not to single "cherry picked" peers). One county does not represent a trend or industry standard. If McLean County's output per worker were materially lower than the average of the peer group, then improving productivity would be the first order of business, not hiring more workers. If McLean County's output were above the peer average and the office is behind in getting documents recorded, then we would see this as a finding in support of hiring more staff.

The peer counties for this survey were Champaign, Peoria, Tazewell, Rock Island, Winnebago, Kane, Macon, Kankakee, Sangamon, Madison. The Recorder also contacted Knox County, although we felt it was not a good comparable for McLean due to it's significantly lower population and depressed economic situation.

We designed a series of questions for this survey. We worked with the Recorder to select the counties to survey and asked him to make the initial telephone calls to peer counties. We reviewed his research and called peer counties selectively to confirm our understanding of his research.

C. Office Layout

The office space itself was not selected nor designed specifically for recording, although it is certainly serviceable. We observed work flow to see if there were any obvious opportunities to change the layout to improve productivity.

The layout itself is approximately as we show below:

MAXIMUS

We suggest the following:

- 1) If and when the office needs more staff, there is room for at least two more employees. The southern half of the existing counter (in yellow) serves no essential purpose. It could be removed or reconfigured to open up employee work space.
- 2) The location of the Lektriever microfilm cabinet invites the public (including title searchers) into the staff work area. We do not think this is a good idea. Many other Illinois Recorder offices do not wish for the public to work in the staff area. In McHenry County, for example, there is a separate room for public access, which separates the public from sensitive information (e.g., military discharges) and expensive capital equipment.
 - In McLean County, the Lektriever itself is a constraint. Because of its weight and the load-bearing capacity of the floor, it has to remain where it is. We recommend that the office investigate the cost of creating a separate work area for the public. We believe that the office has sufficient square footage to make this work. If funds permit and build-out costs are reasonable, the office should do this.
- 3) One option would be to change the public entrance to the one currently labeled "Staff entrance." The counter and the public terminals can then be moved to face this entrance as customers walk in. This would effectively separate the office work area and the search area available to customers. Half of the office space would be left exclusively for staff members, reorienting the dividing line from East/West to North/South.

III. FINDINGS

A. Benchmarking

SUMMARY OF BENCHMARK ANALYSIS

	Documents recorded in 2006	Total FTE	Average Recordings per FTE	Projected staffing at peer average	Staffing need (shortage)	do	udget per 10,000 ocuments ecorded	Days from receipt to mail out	% of time Recorder records documents	% of time Chief Depty records documents

Notes: Bu	idget excludes	s revent	ie stamps.	Maria no como de como d	and the second s	٠				https://www.astrophysics.com/

As shown in the table above, the benchmark analysis suggests that the McLean County Recorder's office uses 0.67 FTE less than the peer average would imply to process the workload.

At the time of our initial visits to the Recorder's office, there were a total of 6 FTE and 1 half-time employee. Since then, the office no longer has the part-time employee, but has hired one person as a full time temporary employee, or a total of 7 FTE. By peer comparison, this is slightly less than what the industry standard would use (7.67 FTE), but by less than one position.

B. Flowcharting

Flowcharts provide a visual depiction of a process that would require much more narrative to describe. Additionally, we want to assess how long it takes an employee to perform each task.

All tasks can be divided into five main categories; Fee entry, Imaging, Indexing, Verification, and Mailing. We divided these categories into processes and sometimes further to the sub-process level. Also included is time spent by staff members on attending to walk-in customers and answering phones.

We have also included "Administration Work & Other Office Activities" indirectly related to the recording process. These cover workload for the County Recorder and Chief Deputy. In the days we spent visiting the office we saw the Chief Deputy coming in early and leaving late in order to fulfill all the requirements necessary to manage the office and record documents.

The table in Schedule 2 shows the data and an analysis of the data determining the following; total minutes per document, total office minutes per day, total office hours per day, task time as a percentage of 1 FTE, and as a percentage of total available hours.¹

Below is a summary results table taken from Schedule 2 which shows that based on the flowcharting analysis, the data does not support hiring another FTE.

FLOWCHART SUMMARY RESULTS

	Annual	Daily	Number
	In HOL	IRS	of FTE
Available per employee	1,700	7.26	1.00
Available total office	11,900	50.85	7.00
Actual total office	10,909	46.62	6.42
Staffing Need (Shortage)	991	4.24	0.58

This suggests that the office has .58 FTE more than it needs to record 155 documents a day

C. Reconciliation of Methods

Our two methods reached different conclusions.

- By comparison to peers, the office is understaffed by 0.67 full-time equivalent employees. We cannot confirm the efficiency of the peer group, not having studied the operations of each, but the results of the peer survey support a staffing increase.
- By direct observation of the work, we found that the office has 0.58 full-time equivalent employees more than it needs. It is possible that staff worked faster while being observed in order to impress the observers, which would have contributed to this finding.

There is no universal answer to which method yields a more reliable conclusion. Each reader will have to decide this for him or herself, although, as authors of this study, we find the flowcharting process somewhat more compelling.

The Recorder increased staffing prior to the conclusion of this study (replacing a part-time employee with a full-time employee), taking the office to 7.0 FTE from 6.5 FTE. The current staff level of 7.0 FTE is reasonable. There will be a financial issue to address, since the new hire is paid from a temporary employee line item that restricts the ability to pay equitably in comparison to other employees. The county should consider making this position permanent.

The Recorder believes that the backlog of his office is almost entirely attributable to the commencement of key verifying data. In fact, he presents data that the backlog began when the key verifying began. He noted that:

Until February of 2005 (3 months after I assumed the office), the average to-mail for 14 months is 12.17 days. At that time the office was changed from a single desk does all, to a sequential step recording process and an employee was dedicated to mail and imaging. For the following 16 months the average is a highly acceptable 2.63 days. In April of 2006, when key verifying was added, the office takes an immediate turn for the worse, with an average turnaround for the next 13 months of 30.54 days.

Key verifying is an essential step in quality control. The office should do it and in fact, it is the standard for any well-run recorder's office. Other offices are doing it; it is not an unusual burden for the McLean County Recorder's office alone.

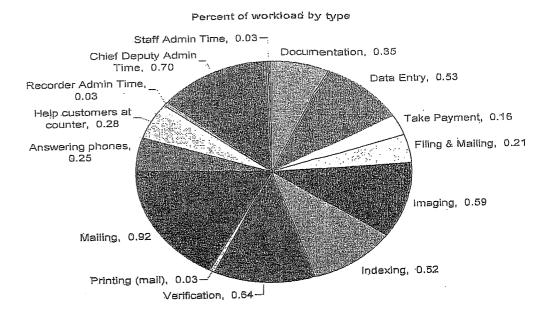

We do not doubt that it key verifying documents is a factor contributing to the 11.6-fold increase (30.54 days./ 2.63 days) in mail-out backlog, but do not believe it is the major or only factor. The chart below tracks the increase in mail-out time since the Recorder took office.

Here are some reasons for our concern about attributing the increase in mail-out time to key verification:

1) We observed the process of key verifying to require 1.8 minutes per document (1.65 minutes to enter the data + 0.13 minutes to verify the mailing information + 0.02 minutes to gather the documents). See Process number 8 of our process maps, which we developed, based on direct observation of work and confirmed with office staff. Extended over the office's workload for the year, key verifying requires 0.64 of one full-time equivalent employee. It is difficult to believe that adding less than 10 percent to office workload would increase mail-out backlog nearly 12 times. See the chart below to understand the portions of workload attributable to each step of the recording process.

The office functioned during a much busier time of low interest rates. "Function" does not speak to quality, but here are data on the office that it provided us in both 2000 and during our research for this study. The point here is that reduction in documents to be recorded when the staff size is increasing should not contribute to a growth in mail-out time. In fact, we would expect the opposite.

FTE	5.00	7.00
Documents recorded	44,445	36,313
Documents recorded /		- 400
FTE	8,889	5,188
Mail-out time (days)	14	30

Quality is critical. We believe it manifests itself in two ways: 1) the database is accurate and 2) staff can find prior recordings. We have seen no evidence that allows us to say that these problems were material in the prior administration, but as a matter of common sense, the office needed to have a program to maintain quality.

In an effort to improve quality, the current Recorder took two important steps. First, he changed workflow from each person doing all steps in recording alone to a sequential workflow.

Second, he added key verification. We agree with and heartily endorse both of these moves. We do not think that they caused the increase in mail-out backlog. First, sequential workflow does not change the number of hours worked – it should have zero net effect on productivity. Second, as noted above, key verification added only a little more than half of one person of workload. Thus, we doubt that the backlog is a result of greater emphasis on quality.

There are issues of special projects (database repair, back file entry into digital records, investigating the difference between expected and actual cash receipts), but ALL recorder offices have special projects. Every office is working to do things that it could not accomplish during the recent explosion of demand in the number of documents to be recorded. We cannot identify anything here that is unique to McLean County to a degree that explains why mail-out time should increase so sharply.

IV. Future Steps

The Recorder asked that we address longer-term recommendations for the office.

A. Staffing

Our analysis of workflow is based on 155 documents recorded per day. We considered how many more documents a year would justify hiring another full-time equivalent employee. The current productivity level of 5,188 documents per FTE seems like the appropriate metric to us.

Economic fluctuations cause the volume of documents to vary from year to year. Theoretically, a decrease in volume should result in a decrease of staff too, although the cost of reducing the workforce, the cost of training new employees and natural human reluctance to terminate coworkers make it more likely that workload changes will drive staffing up than down.

Training new employees is essential. Most of the office's current staff have experience, but turnover in any office is inevitable. The office currently does not have training manuals or procedures for new hires, relying instead on on-the-job training. We find this workable, but if turnover were to increase beyond historical experience, we would not expect the office to maintain its current average of 5,188 documents recorded per FTE.

B. Space

The office can accommodate two or three more employees. If demand were to grow to the point where more staff than that was needed, it would need additional square footage.

MAXIMUS Page 10

Space planners regard cubicles as a more efficient design in terms of average square feet required per employee. We would agree, but to the extent that Recorder's staff need to have eye contact and discussion with each other, there are limits to the use of cubicles in this office.

We feel that the separation of the public work area from the office staff is important and mentioned this earlier. We repeat it here so that it would carry through in case the office was to move or expand.

C. Equipment

While McLean County was the only customer of Cott Systems in the benchmark survey, we have no reason to doubt the wisdom of using the Cott software. Our experience in working with different counties suggests that the market is competitive and that while each vendor will have certain advantages, McLean County is well-served.

Microfilm will have a diminishing impact for archival purposes over time. We do not feel that the office will be microfilm-free any time in the foreseeable future, but we believe that technology's continuing evolution will make microfilm obsolete.

Web-enablement can make data more widely available to the public. A handful of private firms have been seeking copies of bulk data at Freedom of Information prices, with the hope of building their own databases for resale to the public at a profit. We are aware that this is aggravating to many Illinois recorders, but cannot predict how this will end.

D. Quality

Quality assurance is critical to recording, both to ensure the integrity of County records and to avoid the cost of rework.

The office's principal quality control effort is double entry of forms. This is probably the single most important effort for preventing errors from entering the County's records.

The office is still working to resolve disparities in receipts from the prior administration. Not having been involved in that investigation, we express no opinion on it, except to note that it will heighten concern about quality and integrity. Our review of quality procedures included:

A review of the background and training of each employee, with an eye to suggestions that may smooth the transition of work between staff of varying levels of experience and productivity

A review of the documentation of work process provided by your office and your software vendor, with the intent of addressing whether the effort is sufficient

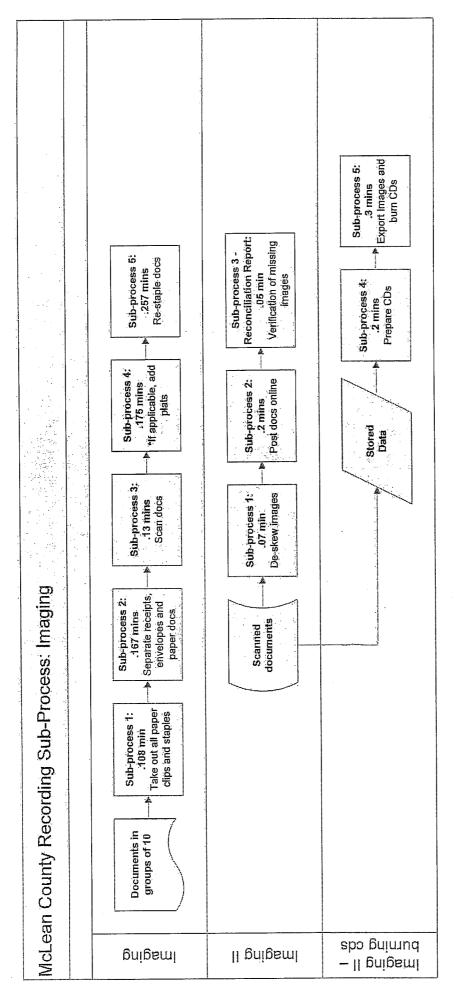

Training is on-the-job. There is no manual of forms or procedures. The software itself guides an employee through the process and more experienced peers are always nearby to help coach. We are not recommending that the office develop a formal training program, but we feel that the process maps that we have developed as part of this study may be useful to new hires for a birds-eye view of recording.

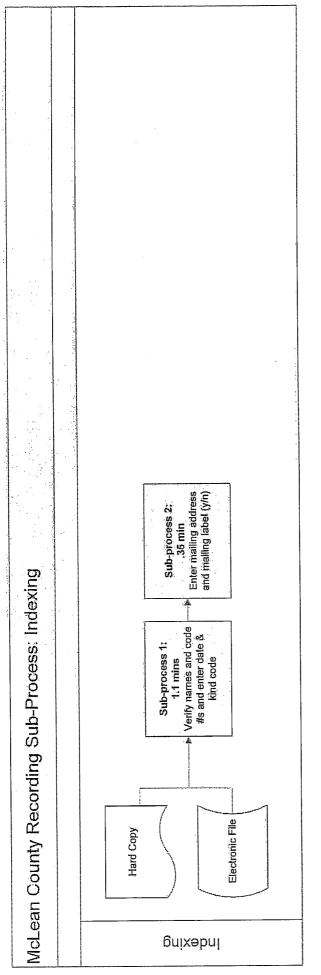

When the Recorder mentioned quality problems, we asked for evidence that documents had been recorded with incorrect information or that staff were unable to retrieve documents. Instances of those problems were very difficult to confirm, but the ongoing investigation into discrepancy between expected and actual cash receipts from several years ago is a clear sign of a quality problem. While we presume that the average person is honest, we do not presume that all past employees of any office were honest.

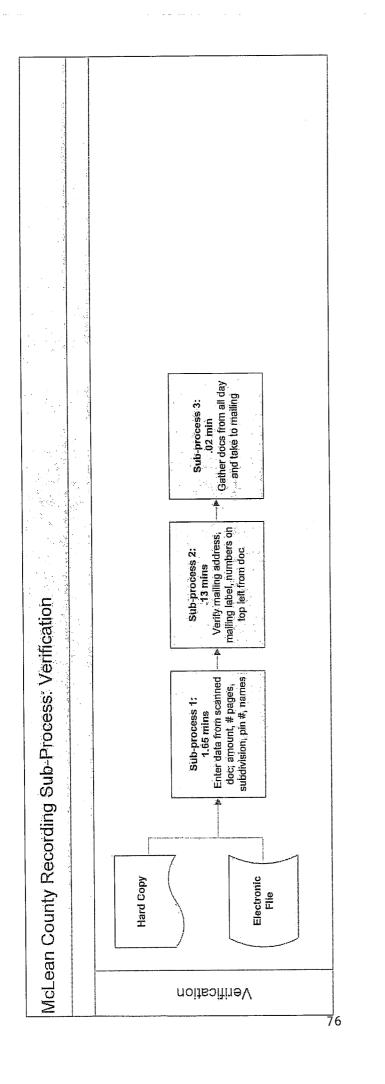

Whether the County will ever succeed in reconciling this cash receipts problem, the implication is clear. The Recorder's Office, with help from the County Auditor and the County's independent auditor, must develop tests to reconcile cash and conduct those tests at random intervals with greater frequency. Finally, anyone detected acting improperly must be dealt with both appropriately to those circumstances and with an eye to setting an example that will deter others from this in the future.

McLean County Supervisor of Assessments

Memo

To: Finance Committee Members

From: Robert T. Kahman

cc: staff, assessors, Board of Review

Date: July 24, 2007

Re: Tax Year 2005 Median and COD

In the course of answering a routine query I took a look at the 2005 Illinois Department of Revenue (ILDOR) statewide sales ratio report. Since we are still collecting 2006 taxes the 2005 numbers represent the most recent full year statistics available for review. I was amazed at what I found and thought that I would share the good news with everyone that played a part.

Please find three graphs with this memo. The graphs are a view of ILDOR comparative data regarding the relative quality of assessments in McLean County. The first graph is a simple representation of the total number of "Good Sales" used by ILDOR in their annual sales ratio study. For the 2005 assessment/tax year, they found 2,427 sales that fell within their parameters. The parameters limit sales to arms length transactions that occur within the year prior to the study year. The sales exclude farm and any property over $1,000,000, as well as transfers of beneficial interest, sales between relatives, distressed sales, etc.

The second graph lists the median level of assessment for each county. The median ratio is the middle ratio when ratios are arrayed in ascending or descending order. The courts have historically looked at the median assessment as the best indication of assessment levels in a jurisdiction. The Illinois Property Tax Code sets 33.33, (35ILCS 200/1-55) as the statutory median for all Illinois counties, except Cook County. Without going too deeply into assessment policy and theory, our median level of assessment is adjusted annually by the revaluation of existing properties by the assessor and the application of the annual multiplier by the Supervisor of Assessments. The median by itself does not tell us much about the overall credibility of the tax assessments in a jurisdiction. It simply means the middle sale, of all the sales that occurred, is this particular number.

The final graph lists the Coefficient of Dispersion (COD) for the counties listed. The COD is the average absolute deviation of assessment from the median assessment expressed as a percentage. In counties between 50,000 and 3,000,000 the target COD is less than 15. The COD measures the credibility of the median. For instance a median of 33.33 would be perfect. However, a COD of 50 would indicate that a taxpayer may be assessed 50% above or below the median. The assessment profession recognizes a COD of 15 or less as an indication of a high level of assessment uniformity.

The counties included in this presentation are the core group that we use to compare ourselves in terms of geographical location, population, parcel count and assessed value.

The number of sales brackets us between Sangamon, Peoria, Champaign and Tazewell, with the greatest similarity to our neighbor Champaign County. Interestingly enough, Champaign is also home to a large university as well as several hospitals. All of the counties included have some reasonable measure of comparability.

The median level of assessment at 31.14 is the best of the counties studied. To the taxpayer this number tells them that in an average property purchased anywhere in the county will be assessed at about 31.14 percent of market value. After annual equalization, the taxpayer can expect the median assessment to be 33.33%. This is a difficult concept to understand. Suffice to say the real estate market is dynamic. The median is calculated by dividing the sale price of a property that sold last year into the assessment from the year before the year of sale. The target level of 33.33 is achieved in the current year.

The COD measures the deviation of the individual sales from the actual median. In our case we are again the top rated county in our group. The lower the COD the more clustered the assessment are around the point of central tendency, the median. To the average taxpayer this means that even if they are not at the statistical median, they have the greatest potential of all the county's listed to have an assessment that is within 11.67% (31.14 +/- 3.63) of the median. The higher the COD the greater the potential for an individual assessment that is very high or very low compared to other similar properties.

To sum up, our assessments are statistically of very high quality. Since the majority of our assessments are very close to the statutory median, and the COD is low, the taxpayer does not have to be concerned that they are not paying their fair share, or that they are paying more than their fair share. The average taxpayer McLean County can have a high degree of confidence that they are being treated fairly.

When I arrived in 1998 our median was 30.28 with a COD of 17.21. These numbers were exceptional and a credit to those that came before me. I like to think that in McLean County we are always looking to improve, even when we are already doing well. The 47% improvement in our COD is a tremendous accomplishment. The 3% improvement in our median directly relates to the decline in our median annual multiplier, which has dropped from 3.38% in 1998 to 2.71% in 2006. A higher median yields a lower multiplier. A lower COD indicates assessment uniformity. Taken together we can honestly say we are doing good, and we are doing it well.

Congratulations to everyone involved in the tax assessment process, assessors, Board of Review, and staff. I wish to thank all of them for a group effort that makes McLean County the leader in fair and equitable assessment.

Re: Assist First-Time Homebuyer Down Payment Assistance Program

Dear John:

The Assist program is continuing to do well in McLean County. Over the past year Assist has helped 394 families purchase homes in the County totaling more than $44 million. A summary of the originations and maps plotting the loans are enclosed. The average loan size is more than $111,000.

An updated list of participating lenders and a program outline are also enclosed.

Finally, I have included an Inducement Resolution to request volume cap to supplement the Assist program going forward. Please schedule the resolution for passage at the next board meeting that is convenient for you. Send me two (2) certified copies of the resolution once it has been acted upon.

Thanks for your continued support of Assist, John, and we look forward to working with you and the County in the year to come.

Best Regards,

David S. Rasch Managing Director
